12:00 pm – 1:00 pm ~ Log on 11:50 am

Description

After years of practice, many nurses begin to ask ‘what’s next for me?’

Developing practice-based questions can be a rejuvenating way to engage differently in one’s career. This session will introduce a self-assessment of readiness and resources to guide nurses’ engagement in scholarly activity, and planning for practical projects.

Learning Objective(s)

At the conclusion of this learning activity, participants will be able to:

1. Describe the steps involved in conducting a self-assessment of skills, time and environmental resources.
2. Discuss three different types of research projects, including the key steps involved in conducting a literature search and review.
3. Explain the tenets of the Donabedian model, including how use of this model provides RNs the opportunity to define and measure their practice as it relates to patient quality outcomes.

Accreditation

In support of improving patient care, Dartmouth Health is jointly accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME), the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education (ACPE), and the American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC), to provide continuing education for the healthcare team.

Dartmouth Health designates this live activity for a maximum of 1.0 ANCC contact hour.
