OVERVIEW

Healing from injuries after bodily trauma is only part of the struggle some of our patients face. Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) can also occur in trauma patients. This webinar will help to identify those at risk for the development of PTSD after trauma. Best practices for offering guidance on current therapies to help treat those patients will also be addressed.

LEARNING OUTCOME

At the conclusion of this learning activity, (at least 75% of) participants will be able to discuss an overview of PTSD in trauma patients, including risk factors, resources, and therapies that can best support this patient population.
